On 17th, 1975 I lived for a while with my parents in Trapeang Dang Tuek (ត្រពាំងដងទឹក) Village, Pau Bek (ពោប៉ែក) Commune, Tram Kak (ត្រាំកក់) District, Takeo (តាកែវ) Province. The Chief of the Village was Ta Yân (តាយ៉ាន); the Chief of the Commune was Ta Châm (តាចំ); the Chief of Spies was Mît (មិត្ត); the Chief of the District was Ta Chay (តាចាយ); and, the Secretary of the Sector was Ta Mok (តាមុក).

At that time, the Chief of the Village took away our properties including a pair of cows, a bicycle, and some gold and money. They told us that those properties would be kept as the collective ones.

Later, they sent me to the Children Unit at Châmka Muoyroryha (ចំការ១៥០). The Chief of the Women Unit was Lay (ឡាយ). At Châmka Muoyroryha, we were forced to overwork days and nights. We were not given break times. There was never enough food. I was extremely skinny. We were not provided with any medicine when we were sick. Instead, we were forced to work even harder and our meal ration was reduced. When we were sick we would be given less food as the Khmer Rouge accused us of pretending to be sick.

For example, my brother picked a head of sweet potato to eat and was seriously beaten by the Chief of the Youth Unit named Lim (លីម). He yelled at him. He said the 17th April people like him ate too much. He went on to say that because he ate too much that's why his body had become bloated.

From 1977 to 1978, Angkar evacuated my family to Trapeang Ruessei (ត្រពាំងប្រសើ) Village, Tram Kak Commune, Takeo Province. The Chief of the Village was Yan (យ៉ាន); the Chief of the Commune was Ta Chim (ជឹម); and, the Chief of the District was Ta Chay (តាចាយ).

Two days after I arrived in this village, I was sent to live in the Children Unit in Prey Leu (ព្រៃលើ) Village, Tram Kak Commune. The Chiefs of the Units were Neary Èm (នារីឯម) and Neary Touch (ទូច). The Chiefs of the Unit forced us to work extremely hard. We were tasked with digging canals, constructing dikes, carrying soil, carrying cow dung and carrying human excrement.

The Chief of the Boys Unit beat my younger brother up and buried him mercilessly. The beater was Ngèt (ង៉ែត), who was the Chief of the Squad in charge of family affairs. Ngèt took three people to be killed including my uncle. His son is now an orphan.

The pain of losing my family members is indescribable. I would like to ask for some collective reparations in the form of cash or materials. I would like some roads, schools, hospitals, pagodas built for the public and some support for the orphans. These reparations are to remind younger generations not to ever repeat this tragic past.

In addition, the Khmer Rouge leaders shall not be sentenced to less than the minimum jailed term of life imprisonment.
